

The Trans-Pacific Partnership: *A One-Stop Shop for Progressive Policy Institute Resources

The Trans-Pacific Partnership is a high-standard, future-oriented trade agreement that levels the playing field for U.S. companies and workers; reflects vital American values on issues like labor, the environment, and due process; and forges stronger bonds with key allies in the Asia-Pacific.

The Progressive Policy Institute has written extensively on TPP. We've detailed how TPP's digital trade, small business, and other provisions would help "democratize" trade by extending trade's benefits to a broad and more diverse group of business owners and workers. And we've pushed back against zero-sum, protectionist responses that would severely damage the U.S. and global economies and impede vital efforts to support trade, growth, and innovation.

We've included below links to PPI's TPP-related reports, infographics, and articles. We hope you find them to be helpful and look forward to your questions and comments.
